Alumnae Host Undergraduates

The Barry College Alumnae Association sponsored their second social event of the year for Barry students Friday evening, Oct. 19.

This event, which was held in the Social Hall, was a games night which included bridge, pinochle, scratchers, prizes and refreshments. The purpose was to acquaint alumnae with student body members. This is the first time such a project has been undertaken on campus.

The South Dale Chapter was responsible for the games night which Sister Maura, O.P., Association moderator, termed a "Fun on Friday Party." Asked for further comment, Sister said, "It must have been fun! They drank gallons of coffee." Sister estimated the attendance at 80.

The first event the Association sponsored was a buffet for freshmen during orientation week. The third project will be sponsored for the seniors in November, with more social plans谋med for sophomores and juniors. The dates for these have not yet been announced.

Robin Potter Selected First Nominee For Angelicus Glamour Contest

Clothes may not make the woman, but they may make you the outstanding personality in our Best-Dressed Girl competition.

The art of good grooming is an integral part of any woman's development. Highlighting this quality, Angelicus, under the auspices of Glamour magazine, is sponsoring a campus-wide contest to select Barry's best-dressed girl of 1962-63.

In the following weeks Angelicus will feature articles on appropriate attire for various occasions. Her favorite colors are combinations in these colors.

The first nominee is fresh-

ROBIN POTTER

POTTER

To Reign Over College Social Life

By Denise Vanderwerff

In a traditional ceremony which will acknowledge her reign over the social sphere of Barry life, Candy Kocanda will be crowned as Campus Queen at the Coronation Ball, tomorrow night, Nov. 3, in the Flinn student center.

Candy and her escort will lead her court consisting of Nancy Bonne, Ann Foust, Annette Kand, and Katie Morrisey, up the carpeted path to a stage illuminated by soft lights and decorated with potted palm trees.

As the queen, dressed in a gown of white silk organza with silver brocaded appliqués on the bodice and front skirt panel, approaches the outdoor stage, Mr. Joseph Walker, vice-president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Miami, will meet her and place the crown of campus queen on her head. Mr. Walker will then present a congratulatory message after which the presidents of the respective chases will speak.

Jeanie Tivyan will sing to the group with "Ninonson Song". At the close of the coronation ceremony dancing will continue to music of Eddie Lloyd and his orchestra.

This occasion has been a part of Barry life for many years. It is the faculty's gift to the entire student body.

Continued on Page 4, Col. 1

Rasselas Named Semester Book

S. m. e. Johnson's Rasselas has been chosen Book-of-the-Month Club selection for October.

The faculty nominated Rasselas because they felt its ideas and problems have direct bearing on the concerns and thoughts of students.

The book concerns young people trying to decide a way of life which will make them most happy and will serve others best. It contains philosophical speculation concerning the essence of happiness and how it is acquired, the type of questions students ask and talk about.

More probably, the faculty points out that Rasselas is a book which may be read in short pieces without a loss of continuity, an aid to busy students. On the other hand, it is a book which may be re-read years from now with pleasure.

At an assembly yet to be scheduled, Lucille Moss and Jean Stedman will lead the debate from the book concerning the attainment of happiness.

The Book of the Month Club presented the selection, which was established in order to give all students some intellectual stimulus in common for discussion. At the beginning of each semester, faculty members submit titles for consideration.
Post-College Problem: Women's Vocation

Do you ever ask yourself what you are achieving in college? Is it right for you to sacrifice your education for the sake of tradition? Are you sure you can make a decent living? Are you considering your vocation? If you answer yes to these questions, you should choose the right vocation for you.

Women of today are faced with many options. They can choose to go into teaching, nursing, or any field they wish. However, there are many obstacles that women must face in order to achieve their goals.

After four years of college, women must decide what they want to do with their lives. They may choose to work in the home, pursue higher education, or enter the workforce. Women who choose to work in the workforce face many challenges.

Women who work in the workforce are often not as satisfied as men. Women who are not satisfied in their jobs may be more likely to experience health problems and other negative consequences.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also confront the issue of job discrimination. Women often face discrimination in the workplace. Women who are not able to find jobs or keep their jobs may be left with few options.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of pay. Women who are not paid as much as men may find it difficult to make ends meet.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of promotion. Women who are not promoted as quickly as men may find it difficult to advance in their careers.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of responsibility. Women who are responsible for many tasks may find it difficult to manage their time.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of stress. Women who are stressed may find it difficult to maintain their health and well-being.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of family. Women who are responsible for children may find it difficult to balance their work and family lives.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of socialization. Women who are not able to socialize as much as men may find it difficult to make friends.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of self-esteem. Women who are not able to feel good about themselves may find it difficult to be happy.

Women whochoose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of self-discipline. Women who are not able to discipline themselves may find it difficult to succeed.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal growth. Women who are not able to grow as individuals may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal relationships. Women who are not able to maintain healthy relationships may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal goals. Women who are not able to set and achieve goals may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal financial stability. Women who are not able to maintain their personal financial stability may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal health. Women who are not able to maintain their personal health may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal fitness. Women who are not able to maintain their personal fitness may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal safety. Women who are not able to maintain their personal safety may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal security. Women who are not able to maintain their personal security may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal freedom. Women who are not able to maintain their personal freedom may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal choice. Women who are not able to make their own choices may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.

Women who choose to work in the workforce must also consider the issue of personal responsibility. Women who are not able to take responsibility for their actions may find it difficult to be happy.
Nitaya Adds Oriental Dash

By Lois McIeskey

A dash of the Oriental is added to the atmosphere on campus as Barry prepares its version of THE KING AND I.

Barry's answer to Tuptim may be found in dark-haired, dark-eyed Nitaya Chivarah, a sophomore from Thailand.

This delegate from the land of rice and elephants has been unanimously elected chief advisor on costumes, materials, and pronunciation of Siamese words used in the production. In addition to these duties, Nitaya is also a member of the cast. She will portray Tuptim in the production.

Although only in America for fourteen months, Nitaya has trudged in her native dress for skirt, blouse and loafer. She likes American chewing gum better than beetle nuts which, she hastened to add, only the old people chew as a habit. Nitaya, who speaks good English, quite unconsciously sprinkles her conversation with the latest American slang.

Nitaya likes America. "Americans are more practical than the Thai," says Nitaya. "They guide themselves by common sense whereas the Thai rely on customs which are sometimes considered old-fashioned by outsiders." Women are more reserved and submissive in Thailand, according to Nitaya. "It is true, as Anna points out in THE KING AND I, that they must bow and scrape to their lords and masters." However, Nitaya feels that the principles governing some of the older traditions are basically good.

Nitaya believes that the P.P.C. is a great service to all the American people. "It is vital to the American nation, of all groups, of all official governments. The P.P.C. aims to fulfill a need in the present world," she states.

For the finest Selection of Books, and Gifts for ALL Occasions visit ST. PAUL'S Catholic Book & Film Center

2700 Biscayne Blvd. FR 1-0835

ANGELICUS

Page 3

OFF 9:30 A.M. — 8:30 P.M., Mon. thru Fri. 10:00 to 6:30 Sat.
ANGELICUS

November

By Sandra Portz

Making clothes for Cuban refugee children seems a task too great for busy college women; however, members of Barry College American Home Economics Association are disproving this premise.

Under the direction of Sister Eulalia, the girls are transforming silk materials donated by local merchants into wearable clothing for Cuban children up to the age of six.

Club leadership this year is in the hands of Cynthia Farina, president; Bobbie Borgadia, vice-president; Marthe Englebert, secretary; Margie Vacean, treasurer.

Not only are these students adept at sewing, but their culinary skills are also well developed.

There will be a Christmas dinner prepared by and for the club members. There will also be a spaghetti dinner for the entire student body. The proceeds will sponsor a mother-daughter dinner for the annual $100 scholarship that has been in use since 1960. The proceeds for Cuban children up to the age of six.

Newly initiated are: Carol Maloney, an enrollment officer, major, who was elected secretary; Sue Smolder, a junior student, will handle the club's finances as treasurer.

d) Class Begins Reign

"Howdy, pardner" could well be the call of the latest in casual wear.

Gingham blouses and blue denim skirts make up the Western look, along with bandana print neckerchiefs and gap accents of red. And what goes with cowboy style but boots? Of course the versions seen in our part of the country are the modified shoe boots.

Barry girls showed their style-consciousness at the recent square dance where they dressed in the latest, and at the same time wore very appropriately "fitted" for the occasion.

Suede leather and for fall and winter wear. Jumpers and shifts in classic tones of olive and gold team nicely with black jersey sweaters. All that is needed to complete such an outfit is a smartly tailored gold pin.

Jewelry also does nicely by itself, whether of a synthetic, cotton, or wool. Blue seems to be the color to watch, especially shades of royal and navy.

Mohair is another important fashion item of the current season. This luxurious yarn is deparing from its usual role of a "sweater maker" and is being used for elegant dresses and suits in bright, clear hues.

Next — Silhouettes.

Sodality Rosary

The Living Rosary, presented annually by the Sodality, held its annual Christmas mass last Tuesday.

Father John Monroe, O.P., celebrated the mass in the press room, 155, before Monday, December 10th.

A procession of 66 girls, led by Ana Arpa, East Coast president, and an unknown number of other members, concluded the ceremony with the Benedict of the blessed rosary.

All ads must be paid in advance with a minimum of two lines. A minimum of ten ads is required to put the section into effect.

To submit your ad copy, leave your name, your room or phone number with approximate fee (figure six words per line) in a special classified box in the press room, 155, before Monday, November 12th.

October meeting floral arrangements were discussed by a guest speaker.

Candy Begins Reign

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

As campus queen, Candy assumes the responsibilities of chairman of the Social Board and coordinator of campus social life. A senior speech and drama major, Candy is from Chicago.

At Barry she is a member of the Student Council, Playhouse, Recreational Athletic Association, and Dominican Terriers.

In charge of the arrangements for the Ball is Anita Butler, Social Chairman.

Trendy, New and Casual

By Marie Maran

Fashion trends of the season are looking much like the new arenas in which women are coming into their own; this season will not be any different.

The Living Rosary

For the Ball is Anita Butler, Social Chairman.

Junior Class Elections

The junior class election, begun last June with the election of Mary Kay Rogers, President for 1962-63, now has its new officers.

Anne Polk is the junior vice-president. She will chair the committee of the newly-organized committee until the officers are elected.

Managing junior dances and activities this season will be Cynthia Farina, Social Chairman. Keeping class records will be Candy (figure six words per line) in a

"Howdy, pardner" could well be the call of the latest in casual wear.

Gingham blouses and blue denim skirts make up the Western look, along with bandana print neckerchiefs and gap accents of red. And what goes with cowboy style but boots? Of course the versions seen in our part of the country are the modified shoe boots.

Barry girls showed their style-consciousness at the recent square dance where they dressed in the latest, and at the same time wore very appropriately "fitted" for the occasion.

Suede leather and for fall and winter wear. Jumpers and shifts in classic tones of olive and gold team nicely with black jersey sweaters. All that is needed to complete such an outfit is a smartly tailored gold pin.

Jewelry also does nicely by itself, whether of a synthetic, cotton, or wool. Blue seems to be the color to watch, especially shades of royal and navy.

Mohair is another important fashion item of the current season. This luxurious yarn is deparing from its usual role of a "sweater maker" and is being used for elegant dresses and suits in bright, clear hues.

Next — Silhouettes.

Sodality Rosary

The Living Rosary, presented annually by the Sodality, held its annual Christmas mass last Tuesday.

Father John Monroe, O.P., celebrated the mass in the press room, 155, before Monday, December 10th.

A procession of 66 girls, led by Ana Arpa, East Coast president, and an unknown number of other members, concluded the ceremony with the Benedict of the blessed rosary.

All ads must be paid in advance with a minimum of two lines. A minimum of ten ads is required to put the section into effect.

To submit your ad copy, leave your name, your room or phone number with approximate fee (figure six words per line) in a special classified box in the press room, 155, before Monday, November 12th.

October meeting floral arrangements were discussed by a guest speaker.

Candy Begins Reign

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

As campus queen, Candy assumes the responsibilities of chairman of the Social Board and coordinator of campus social life. A senior speech and drama major, Candy is from Chicago.

At Barry she is a member of the Student Council, Playhouse, Recreational Athletic Association, and Dominican Terriers.

In charge of the arrangements for the Ball is Anita Butler, Social Chairman.

Trendy, New and Casual

By Marie Maran

Fashion trends of the season are looking much like the new arenas in which women are coming into their own; this season will not be any different.

The Living Rosary

For the Ball is Anita Butler, Social Chairman.

Junior Class Elections

The junior class election, begun last June with the election of Mary Kay Rogers, President for 1962-63, now has its new officers.

Anne Polk is the junior vice-president. She will chair the committee of the newly-organized committee until the officers are elected.

Managing junior dances and activities this season will be Cynthia Farina, Social Chairman. Keeping class records will be Candy (figure six words per line) in a

"Howdy, pardner" could well be the call of the latest in casual wear.

Gingham blouses and blue denim skirts make up the Western look, along with bandana print neckerchiefs and gap accents of red. And what goes with cowboy style but boots? Of course the versions seen in our part of the country are the modified shoe boots.

Barry girls showed their style-consciousness at the recent square dance where they dressed in the latest, and at the same time wore very appropriately "fitted" for the occasion.

Suede leather and for fall and winter wear. Jumpers and shifts in classic tones of olive and gold team nicely with black jersey sweaters. All that is needed to complete such an outfit is a smartly tailored gold pin.

Jewelry also does nicely by itself, whether of a synthetic, cotton, or wool. Blue seems to be the color to watch, especially shades of royal and navy.

Mohair is another important fashion item of the current season. This luxurious yarn is deparing from its usual role of a "sweater maker" and is being used for elegant dresses and suits in bright, clear hues.

Next — Silhouettes.

Sodality Rosary

The Living Rosary, presented annually by the Sodality, held its annual Christmas mass last Tuesday.

Father John Monroe, O.P., celebrated the mass in the press room, 155, before Monday, December 10th.

A procession of 66 girls, led by Ana Arpa, East Coast president, and an unknown number of other members, concluded the ceremony with the Benedict of the blessed rosary.

All ads must be paid in advance with a minimum of two lines. A minimum of ten ads is required to put the section into effect.

To submit your ad copy, leave your name, your room or phone number with approximate fee (figure six words per line) in a special classified box in the press room, 155, before Monday, November 12th.

October meeting floral arrangements were discussed by a guest speaker.

Candy Begins Reign

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

As campus queen, Candy assumes the responsibilities of chairman of the Social Board and coordinator of campus social life. A senior speech and drama major, Candy is from Chicago.

At Barry she is a member of the Student Council, Playhouse, Recreational Athletic Association, and Dominican Terriers.

In charge of the arrangements for the Ball is Anita Butler, Social Chairman.

Trendy, New and Casual

By Marie Maran

Fashion trends of the season are looking much like the new arenas in which women are coming into their own; this season will not be any different.

The Living Rosary

For the Ball is Anita Butler, Social Chairman.

Junior Class Elections

The junior class election, begun last June with the election of Mary Kay Rogers, President for 1962-63, now has its new officers.

Anne Polk is the junior vice-president. She will chair the committee of the newly-organized committee until the officers are elected.

Managing junior dances and activities this season will be Cynthia Farina, Social Chairman. Keeping class records will be Candy (figure six words per line) in a

"Howdy, pardner" could well be the call of the latest in casual wear.

Gingham blouses and blue denim skirts make up the Western look, along with bandana print neckerchiefs and gap accents of red. And what goes with cowboy style but boots? Of course the versions seen in our part of the country are the modified shoe boots.

Barry girls showed their style-consciousness at the recent square dance where they dressed in the latest, and at the same time wore very appropriately "fitted" for the occasion.

Suede leather and for fall and winter wear. Jumpers and shifts in classic tones of olive and gold team nicely with black jersey sweaters. All that is needed to complete such an outfit is a smartly tailored gold pin.

Jewelry also does nicely by itself, whether of a synthetic, cotton, or wool. Blue seems to be the color to watch, especially shades of royal and navy.

Mohair is another important fashion item of the current season. This luxurious yarn is deparing from its usual role of a "sweater maker" and is being used for elegant dresses and suits in bright, clear hues.

Next — Silhouettes.

Sodality Rosary

The Living Rosary, presented annually by the Sodality, held its annual Christmas mass last Tuesday.

Father John Monroe, O.P., celebrated the mass in the press room, 155, before Monday, December 10th.

A procession of 66 girls, led by Ana Arpa, East Coast president, and an unknown number of other members, concluded the ceremony with the Benedict of the blessed rosary.

All ads must be paid in advance with a minimum of two lines. A minimum of ten ads is required to put the section into effect.

To submit your ad copy, leave your name, your room or phone number with approximate fee (figure six words per line) in a special classified box in the press room, 155, before Monday, November 12th.

October meeting floral arrangements were discussed by a guest speaker.

Candy Begins Reign

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

As campus queen, Candy assumes the responsibilities of chairman of the Social Board and coordinator of campus social life. A senior speech and drama major, Candy is from Chicago.

At Barry she is a member of the Student Council, Playhouse, Recreational Athletic Association, and Dominican Terriers.

In charge of the arrangements for the Ball is Anita Butler, Social Chairman.