Robin Wins Glamour Title

"I am thrilled to death," exclaimed Robin excitedly, on being named Barry's Best Dressed College Woman of 1963.

The election results were made known to Robin last Monday, and the poll has been active, preparing her application. She was photographed in various outfits by a professional photographer, and the application is to be submitted to Glamour before tomorrow's deadline.

For the second successive year a Freshman class can boast of having a member of Barry's candidate to compete in Glamour Magazine's good grooming competition.

As Barry's glamour queen, Robin will win the title of one of the best-dressed college girls in America, and be featured in Glamour Magazine in March.

Runner-up in Angelicus' one-act play, " handled by Sodality Prefect T. L. Martin, Mr. Bush, Mr. Burke, were passed and are to be ratified at the March 1964 meeting.

The Mass was offered by Monsignor Barry, deacon, and Father Dixon, sub-deacon. Monsignor Dominick Barry, Msgr. Michael Casey, Mr. Charles Stack, and Mr. James Burke.

Today, Marilyn Bogetich was moved by Sodality Prefect Maggie Rumble, honorable mention; Robert A. Vignola, "Make Way," honorable mention; and Sue Burke, "But Welcome," honorable mention.

The judges were Mr. Cass Hession, Mr. Charles Stack, and Father Done, sub-dean.

The student body, in academic attire, offered the Mass as a tribute to these founders.

Student Council May Increase List of Major Campus Offices

Constitutional Amendments were the business of the day at the regular meeting of the Barry College Student Council on Thursday, March 19th.

Notices to amend the constitution were introduced by Sue Burke, Pat Squelja, and Jan Capozzo who introduced a series of revisions concerning other concerns.

The proposed changes would assure Barry's students of a voice in the management of their university, making that office a true College issue.

Dear Fellow Students:

March 21 will soon be here and this seemingly unimportant date comes now to Barry's campus with an energy newly charging on Olympics Day. Athletic equipment, not touched by human hands for months, is waiting feverishly for the active students field or court as do the playing cards find passing use on the bridge tables in Thompson Hall. Soon the students will be lured with the exciting plea for "achieving muscle relief" or "something to go with the challenges of life." The excitement will grow, the tension mounts and suddenly we find ourselves in the twilight zone of the day's activity be it competition or recreation.

May we reflect momentarily on this word competition? Is it really significant? What is its true significance?

First of all, may I say that I do not in any sense of the word believe in competition. Competition is a natural and normal expression among human beings, as it is in the schools or institutions eliminating competition in athletics, grades, honors and other channels through which persons seek satisfaction to the extent, I believe, to conclude that this problem exists on a smaller yet as important level right on our campus. If we are blessed with a group of students who successfully made the 50-mile hike to Fort Sodality. She is their Vice-Prefect.

This year we may witness campaigns with rival issues of determining who shall be more vigorous candidates, and with such existing electioneering devices as a political rally and open debate.

All of this, of course, has one "drawback:" we voters must be particularly discriminating. We must strive to install a board of student council officers who will continue the prudent, animated leadership.

The underlying motive is simply to make Student Council more sympathetic and useful to legitimate student complaints. This year the goal WILL be realized and that goal of friendly, whole-hearted, good, clean, fun-filled Olympics Day, 1963 will be a sure display of fun, skill, and careful preparation. I believe that this year the goal WILL be realized and that Olympics Day, 1963 will be a sure display of fun, skill, and careful preparation.

Let's examine the offices. The vice-chairmen of the Student Council are the junior and senior class presidents. Who are they elected by? The membership of the Student Council each year is selected by the Sophistry Prefect. The Sophistry Prefect is the honorary chairman of the Student Council. Who is it? It is an office which is elected by the students.

Please do not interpret this in the wrong way. I do not feel that the girls holding these offices at the present time are doing a poor job. Instead, I congratulate them for doing two jobs when they are elected to one only. They are blessed with a great deal of charity to give up their time for this end which a truly desirable and profitable situation may bring.

I would like to share a few thoughts about all of these thoughts, congratulations to those hiking heroines among us!

Chop Suey

By Sue Burke

You have heard of that old-fashioned matlaly, the chop suey? We have a new one: it's called the Grippes.

A peculiarly studdy little bug is this. It harbors itself in the uppercrustm, maturing all year long on a diet of the most nutritious food that covers the whole student habitat with disgruntled rumbling.

You know the symptoms. It manifests itself in arm-flailing and soap-box-preaching in early stages, but this soon gives way to lethargy, half-open eyes, and a continual nagging white. The vitreous gapes seems to have no sense of awareness, and there is general discomfort in the presence of open doors coupled with a distaste for the dator quo, but no energy to change it.

Grippes is remarkable for its contagion. Mask-up as constructive criticism, it creeps into the highest places and can kill a student body so fast that it never even knows it has died. The classifications are not very effective; it consists of complaining about the gripping. Editorial staffs of newspapers devote their whole existence to fighting this disease in all its forms, and they have to fight their own inclination to lapse into a nagging editorial pitch.

Grippes is just one symptom of the falling away of the campus and with it we can lump all kinds of infections. The comparatively new, and the one that we claim do not apply to us: dishonesty.

There is such an easy way to end all dissension. If students are peddling their own booklets with fifteen-dollar reference books from the li- brary and putting a sign reading room. Who reads such a way? Pages are teared out of bound periodicals; close the stacks. Of 590 Angelicus questionnaires, 235 were returned completed. That suggests that 85% of you are not interested in what this paper does. We have the press room. It has a job been done to the yearbook. Abolish Student Council, strip class traditions, and make us all uniform. Get rid of dollars spent on Culture Series. Leadership Development has been ignored by this year's freshmen as it was worse; the chairman expected that to happen. Forget it.

This may be too easy a solution, because we love to martyr ourselves for the sake of collegiate responsibility. It is comforting to think we are alive.

For an A for our muse

We respectfully dedicate this poem to Sister Thomas Aquin, who judiciously directed ethics classes last semester:

We do our work with pleasure (we’re affable),
We never carry a grudge (we’re affable);
We smile as we labor,
We love each and every neighbor,
Because we love our labor!
We’re affable!
We’re equable, vindicating, pious and vacuous,
We’re liberal, religious and observant—oh my gracious;
In addition, we’re grateful! and I guess it must be that.

But that we indubitably AFFABLE?

A Hiking We Shall Go For JFK, You Know

By Linda Pettillo

Sore feet, blisters, aching legs, are you walking more for the fun of it or for something more? This would mean little to the average cross-country traveler, but to the fifty-mile hikers of Barry College, it strikes a chord.

Jane Crosby, Catherine Ciano, Mary Ester Carlin and Katharine Popovich had traversed the path of knowledge, and they had decided to pursue their studies further. The four girls had planned their journey to Fort Lauderdale and back. The remaining four out of a beginning group of seventeen, they say they know how far they can feel and how easily an arch can fall.

Leaving campus at 4:30 in the morning they reached the halfway mark at noon in Fort Lauderdale. At that point only four hikers were left. Resting awhile on the beach, they started the long trip back.

The girls arrived on campus at 10:30 Saturday night, 11½ hours after they began their excursion. Only three of these hours were spent for leisure. The walkers averaged from three to four miles an hour and they said the last ten miles were the worst.

They said it couldn't be done but the four girls proved otherwise. However, you may be hearing them say, "Next time, let's drive up."

Drama Department Encourages Talent

Students with the urge to act will have opportunity to try their talents this semester at Barry.

Auditions for Our Town and Miracle Worker were held earlier this month, and Lori Clark and Mary Ester Carlin were chosen for their production of Moore's The Doctor in Spite of Himself.

Terry Fracasek will need a large cast for her production of As You Like It. Shortly after this casting, Pati Brecht will be selecting talent for her presentation of Antigone.

Sister Marie Carol emphasizes the importance of the theater: "All of these plays afford the students an opportunity for participation in really fine theater. Participation in the everyday college education should be the experience of taking part in live theater. It will expand, enrich, educate, recreationally, and spiritually.

Angelicus Letter Brings Results

Because of a letter-to-the-editor in the Dec. 18, 1962, issue of Angelicus, Barry's main entrance has been made one-way.

Sister M. Christopher, O.P., and Mr. Francis Stott, custodian of campus grounds, made the announcement a week after pavement markings were installed.

The entrance is to remain one-way and all students and college guests are asked to use the back driveways for exits. Sister also said the entrance will be widened and cleared of any plant obstructions.

The Dec. 18 letter pointed out that the entrance was too narrow and "blind" for two-way traffic.

The letter was published with the name of the writer withheld by request.

Freshmen Select Leaders

By Penny Hook

At a class meeting, Monday, March 4, Freshmen elected their officers for the remainder of this semester, and the Spanish Honor Society.

Making sure an account of all proceedings will be the task of Joan Daley, the class' new secretary. Cardinal Newman High School in West Palm Beach, Joan served as a class officer and as a member of Student Council, the drama club, glee club and a capella choir, and National Honor Society.

While attending St. Thomas Aquinas High School in Ft. Lauderdale, Mary participated in the pep club, the Spanish club, the Student Council, the school newspaper, and Juniorites service club. At Barry she spends her time working in the Sociology and CJD clubs. Mary serves as a member of the Barry Class' social activities committee. While attending St. Thomas Aquinas High School in Chicago, Carole was a Student Council officer for three years, Secretary of the National Honor Society, a cheerleader, and a member of the Student Council.

In an attempt to cooperate as completely as possible with the Sound, the Social Board had under the direction of Candy Kocanda, campus resident advisor.

Four new committees, staffed by Social Board members, have recently been formed. Those are the Entertainment Committee, the File and Records Revision Committee, the Calendar Committee and the Hostess Committee.

The Entertainment Committee, headed by Kathy Morrison, will undertake the highlighting of various activities in the Miami area for Barry's participation. This may include dances, concerts, movies, etc.

In charge of the File and Records Revision Committee is Nancy Bolton. This committee will revise dance procedures, band lists, and invitation lists.

The Calendar Committee, under the direction of Cynthia Farris, will be responsible for preparing the Calendar of events and for preparing the schedule of student activities available for scheduling functions.

The second part of Marsh's experiment (as if the first were not already conclusive enough) consists of taking four rats, and shaving the backs of three of them. To these three she applied, on the skin, the nicotine and tar she had previously filtered from the water. She expects them to develop cancer in several weeks.

TO SMOKE OR NOT TO SMOKE is the question Martha Sagit-tan and Diana Panto are asking the cigarette inhaling machine in the science lab. But the machine isn't talking — it has a cigarette in its mouth.

In the early Middle Ages when the number of days was definitely set at 40, various modifications were introduced. Pope St. Gregory the Great (590-604) laid down the rule of abstinence for a minimum of four weeks, although the historian Socrates points out that there were only three weeks of actual fasting. In contrast, in the Orient there were six weeks of fasting plus ultra severe fasting during Holy Weeks. Not only the length of the fast but the fasting itself varied. Some people merely abstained from meat while others ate nothing for 24 hours or more.

The earliest mention of the fast being for 40 days is in the Fifth Canon of the Council of Nicaea (325). In actual practice, however, the length and discipline of Lent remained at variance. In fifth century Rome, for example, Lent was observed six weeks, although the historian Socrates points out that there were only three weeks of actual fasting. In contrast, in the Orient there were six weeks of fasting plus ultra severe fasting during Holy Weeks. Not only the length of the fast but the fasting itself varied.
