The Class of 1966 announces the Senior Prom to be held at the Napoleon Ballroom of the Deauville Hotel on Saturday, May 8, at 9 p.m.

The junior class suggests that, to make this evening a gala event in honor of the Senior Class, everyone should make plans to attend. Prom plans should include an advance invitation to one’s escort, especially if he will have to make travel arrangements.

The feast of St. Thomas Aquinas, although celebrated on March 7, will be officially observed on March 10, by the faculty and sisters. Father said, "Law has been the subject of much recent discussion and a logical question arising out of the study to ecclesiastical and civil law.

A study of divine law will be presented by Stephen Pevsner, senior. A junior, Olaf Schone, will extend the study to Canon law. Senior Berna Menting will read a paper entitled "The Scrolled Law of Norman."

The subject of law was chosen by Fr. Joseph Jurasko, O. P. of the theology department. Speaking of the pope, Father said, "Law has been the subject of much recent discussion and a logical question arising out of the study to ecclesiastical and civil law."

The program will be presented at a special assembly on Wednesday, March 10, at 11 o'clock.

The feast of the Blessed Virgin in accordance with the feast of Saint Thomas Aquinas, but celebrated in the Church on March 8, will be observed on the campus by the student body in accordance with the tradition of the "Liberated Woman." Dr. Chaves has been recognized as having a position and influence with the student body. The faculty hopes to find the best way to use this influence to further society's goals.

All of the speakers will be women from the different fields that concern woman's life. The faculty has been invited to suggest speakers.

A jury of five judges, representatives from the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish religious groups, will determine the winner of the "Best Dressed Girl on Campus" contest. Miss Roberta (Bobbi) Montezello, a freshman from Somers, New York, will be the only living founder, and Mr. Michael O'Neil, president of General Tire of Miami and chairman of the Lay Advisory Board, arrived for dinner and a share of the birthday cake.

Barry Begins Observance of Silver Jubilee

Barry's Jubilee Year was inaugurated on Feb. 5 in commemoration of the signing of the charter in 1940. Two large birthday cakes prepared by food service manager, Thomas Oquinn, were presented to the student body for sampling. Monsignor William Barry, the only living founder, and Mr. Michael O'Neil, president of General Tire of Miami and chairman of the Lay Advisory Board, arrived for dinner and a share of the birthday cake.

A meeting committee chaired by Sr. Marie Carol, O. P., and consisting of Sr. Mary Dorothy, O. F. P., president, Sr. Mary Mary, O. P., Sr. Margaret, O. P., treasurer, Sr. Agnes Cecile, O. P., alumnae moderator, and Mt. John Kri, assistant to the president, announced plans for the Jubilee Year celebrations at the regular faculty meeting on February 16. All campus activities for the year will express the Jubilee commemoration theme. The Jubilee Reunion, April 23-25, will be the official opening activity and the main celebration will take place at the annual Founder's Day program in November.

Silver Jubilee celebrations will be shared by Fathers Joseph Jurasko and Cyril Burke and Sisters Marie Carolyn and Francis Regis during Barry's Jubilee Year. Details of their plans are not now available.
Thanks to all of you who helped the Angelicus staff reap the benefits of our annual evaluation. From your answers we are able to better understand you, and to adapt our work to your wishes.

Evidently most of you do not know our situation. I offer this explanation not to repay for past mistakes, or even to change my methods of handling them. It is true that the filament was well pleased with the editorial page, and the faculty members were not. This should not be surprising for they are not, in many cases, vitally interested in these separate camps. In due respect, the faculty was more interested in the student mind, not the faculty mind.

Angelicus University Miami is an AAU member. We live in an Intellectual Utopia. Sounds strange, but it is true. A society geared to the direction of forming ideas. Aren't we the students, the best advertisement of what Barry University has to offer. Devising the many dimensions of woman in her role as a collegiate player to pass the 2,000 point mark. Student's Voice

Dear Editor:

The Nursing Student Association is currently engaged in preparing the next issue of the Journal of Nursing. The purpose of this program is to familiarize the readers with the biological facts of pregnancy and its implications. The existence of medicines which can safely and effectively treat the various ailments of the human body, the Angelicus must try to please all of the different publics with which it deals. As a result, the pages of the Angelicus are usually filled with the interests and public relations organ and an "image-reveler." This year we have tried to satisfy all of the groups by handling some material which will please each phase of our readership. For this reason some of you find articles which may not pertain to your "little corner of the world." In capital letters, the staff is in complete agreement that our most important public is the student body. And, the poll directly revealed that we first consider for some of you who were hurt and disillusioned by the discipline? What you may be interested in a few of the lines...

AN English Dominican
Rests and Rites
by Yvonne Daley
A tall man with sophisticated air sporting a Dominican robe and a British accent has become a familiar sight at Barry. Father Gabby has been on campus recovering from a serious illness and working on the new English Sweater. Father’s background is quite interesting-middle-class English, nominally Church of England, right-wing thinking in politics, Catholic by profession (and conviction!). It is impossible to cover the many diverse interests and accomplishments of this man in a single column. We could start by mentioning occupation by saying that he is the editor of a 60-volume translation and commentary on Aquinas’ “Summa Theologiae.” But, Father would be more apt to say that he is “here to rescue and convert and prevent it being swamped by secularism.”

Conference Names 21 Students
by Gaetana Misuraca
Barry’s Deans’ Conference has become a point of curiosity for the student body. The purpose and aims of this program are a matter for question. The honor program initiated at Barry this semester is a broad spectrum approach to education. The students who shall participate will cover a range from freshmen to juniors. These students have maintained a 3.3 average and an exhibited superior quality in their work. A general culture test is helped in selecting the students although a chief concern of the membership. The third purpose of the test was to give evidence of the faculty and to the student body in which area students were weak, the sciences or the humanities.

With all information and recommendations taken into account, initiations were extended to the following students:

Sophomores: Mary Elizabeth, Barre- ry, Peggy Cavelli, Charlotte Kel, Felicia Vacciniti.
Freshmen: Angela Arroyo, Mary Jo Bonick, Nancy Freer, Jonrion Diaz, Phyllis Maurice, Mary Agnes Noon, Marion Olden, Carol Rickett, Carol Solar, Nancy Tissier, Maria Villalón.

The Deans Conference has as its purpose two objectives. First, that the conference might possibly enrich the student and help her to express herself more precisely. Second, that the faculty might share her enrichment with her contemporaries.

The program will consist of a two hour meeting once a month. At each meeting a member of the faculty will give a 45 minute exposition of a certain phase of the main theme, “The Struggle Toward Meaning.” The remainder of the period will be spent in a discussion of the topic.

Four conferences will take place this spring: The first will be on the Feb. 25 with a discussion of “The Struggle Toward Meaning” moderated by Sr. Robert Louise; “A Struggle Toward Meaning Through Shakespearian Literature” by Sr. Mary Jean; “A Struggle Toward Meaning Through Verse” by Sr. Robert Louise; “A Struggle Toward Meaning Through Film” by Sr. Robert Louise. The last meeting of the conference, initiated by Sr. Mary Conti, will be on May 20 with a discussion of “The Struggle Toward Meaning Through Events.”

Trojan Women

The voice of Jose Ferrer will be heard in the opening dialogue as the god Poseidon in Barry College’s spring dramatic production, Trojan Women. At the request of Sr. Mary Carol, O. P., director of the play, Ferrer recorded the dialogue during his recent Miami visit.

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" at the Coconut Grove Playhouse, St. Mary Carol said. "Trojan Women, written 2,150 year ago, by Euripides, is the greatest piece of anti-war literature there is in the world. It is a play about the aftermath of the ten-year war and fall of Troy. The women of Troy, their husbands dead, children taken from them, are now waiting to be shipped off to slavery by their Greek conquerers.

Trojan Women will be presented Mar. 5, 6, and 7 in the college auditorium at 8:15 p.m. On Sun., Mar. 7, there will be a matinee at 2:30 p.m.

Distinguished Guest Visits
A recent guest at Barry has been Broadway star Miss Julie Haydon, who presented a special theatre program in the auditorium, Feb. 26. Members of the drama department and the cast of Trojan Women, had the pleasure of hearing Miss Haydon’s stories about experiences working with Tennessee Williams, Laurence Taylor, and Eddie Dowling on the original production of Glass Menagerie and with Cedric Hardwick in Shadow and Substance.

Miss Haydon, who was born in Osh Park, Ill., began acting there and then went to the west coast where she worked for M.G.M. and Western Brothers. At the age of 21 she played in the film The Uncomprong, portraying the dual role of daughter and mother to the screen Ann Harding. Her most memorable movie experience was The Snowbird with Noel Coward in 1935. The picture is considered by film historians, the artistic turning of the use. Her Broadway credits include Shadow and Substance, Time of Your Life, Hello Out There, and Glass Menagerie.

At present the lettrés and does graduates attend colleges at university throughout the country.

POLL RESULTS
What Students Think
by Gary Dietsch

The staff of the Angelicus conducted an annual faculty and student poll recently in order to obtain opinions, and criticisms that would help make Angelicus a well-diversified and pertinent publication for Barry.

Six hundred questionnaires were distributed, only 88 of which were returned. The poll results indicated that the majority of those responding favor each issue completely. Front page news and features were found to be the most widely read of the newspaper's coverage. Columnists proved to be the least interesting among the students. Some columns are too niche in subject matter. There's not enough diversification.

"Columns are often superficial and over-produced." "Front page news is most pertinent." "The editorial page is not profound enough." "You find, subjectivity. Bluntness has proved beneficial in this milieu. That little, direct confrontation of the real issues is necessary."

Half of the students stated that they had considered addressing letters to the "Student's Voice" column. This action was either decided against, due to the lack of time, or it was felt that no beneficial good would result from the action. This "What-the-fuck?" attitude seemed to fortify the general student reaction to the column. Favorable comments listed were:

"I like the Angelicus just the way it is." "I have no complaints. I'm pleased with the "new look" of Angelicus." "The Poulenc was an unusual addition," "My advice to you is to publish more literature."

Additional news on other colleges across the nation would add a spark to Angelicus. "More class news would be interesting. Why not address something to the average student occasionally?"

"More news concerning other colleges across the nation would add a spark to Angelicus."

"I like the 'Angelicus' because it's a well-diversified and pertinent publication for Barry."

"The Angelicus needs better staff writing and a staff that is more interested in its publication."

"There has been inadequate improvement in format of this year's Angelicus. It must be accomplished by improvement in the large diversity and the multiplicity of subject matter, for these two elements are enjoyed in the depth of reading. Only Alexander Pope could write well of music, and this is a diametrically opposed age."

"The feature stories indicated that the majority said the Angelicus completely. The front page news and features were considered to be the least interesting, with the features and editorials ranking as articles of great interest."

"The reaction was not concerned in any way and that the editorial page does not sufficiently reflect student thought. Some of the comments made by the faculty were:

"The faculty said the high school level, more college; How to achieve it I do not know!"

"I would like to see more student opinions and student journalism. More editorials and less staff will be a great asset."

Dr. Schulte Feted

A dinner honoring Dr. Robert Schulze, president Emeritus of the School of Social Sciences, and his wife Dr. Lila Schulze, was held February 7, in St. Patrick's parish hall on February 28 at 4:30 p.m. In keeping with the theme of the function, which is folk music, the Barry members will contribute "The Man From the North," a well-known folk number. The Barry group, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Youngberg, will contribute "When The Saints Go Marching In," a well-known folk number.
