SGA Officially Chartered

Four constitutional amendments were passed, officers introduced, awards and charters presented at the final SGA assembly May 13.

Agnes Kettyles, chairman of the ad hoc awards committee, explained the committee's nominations.

The students unanimously passed an amendment to change the name of the SGA elected members to student congress.

The final constitutional amendment deleted the specified number twelve from article four, section one concerning appointment of senators and representatives to committees.

In a tension filled, nearly two-hour long election governed by the S.G.A., officers, the sophomore class elected seven class officers and eleven SGA congressmen for the coming year.

Hazel Calvet was re-elected as president of the class on the second ballot, while a vice-president still had not been elected by the fourth ballot. The vice-presidential election was then postponed until the next class meeting on May 20.

Secretary-Treasurer

Jacque Fournier was elected secretary, and Karla McGinnis for "the amount of time and effort he gives for the school. He goes out of his way to help everyone," Agnes commented.

Carol Ritchie won the service to SGA award for "her outstanding job as president of SGA." Agnes also remarked that Carol was "absolutely imperative to have elections again for the benefit of the entire class. I hope that this incident will not make some of the class members resent others, following the above opposing factions. I am sure that the main goal of any of the candidates was, and still is, to have an active and united class."

Sophomores Re-elect Calvet

In a session filled, nearly two-hour long election governed by the S.G.A. officers, the sophomore class elected seven class officers and eleven SGA congressmen for the coming year.

Calvet was re-elected as president of the class on the second ballot, while a vice-president still had not been elected by the sixth ballot. The vice-presidential election was then postponed until the next class meeting on May 20.

Students Amend Constitution

Four constitutional amendments were passed, officers introduced, awards and charters presented at the final SGA assembly May 13.

Agnes Kettyles, chairman of the ad hoc awards committee, explained the committee's nominations.

The students unanimously passed an amendment to change the name of the SGA elected members to student congress.

The final constitutional amendment deleted the specified number twelve from article four, section one concerning appointment of senators and representatives to committees. This action was taken to eliminate any statements of the constitution - a violation of Robert's Rules of Order - and to allow a more flexible apportionment of committee members in the future.

Twenty-three organizations, including all four classes, received charters from noreen Bevilacqua, chairman of the Student Affairs Committee. The members will adopt VISA, a student discount service, upon further investigation of the organization during the summer.

SGA Congress

In contrast to the numerous ballots needed for many of the officers elected in the contested election were re-elected at this time.

A member of the board of directors of Nazareth College, Louisville as well as part-time professor of philosophy at the University of Louisville and Ursuline College.

Most of the officers elected in the contested election were re-elected at this time.

A member of the board of directors of Nazareth College, Louisville as well as part-time professor of philosophy at the University of Louisville and Ursuline College.

Monignor Horrigan received an honorary LL.D. in 1961 from Belmont Abbey College, North Carolina, and one in 1966 from St. Joseph's College. He also received an honorary Award for Civil Service and the Spiritual Community Award of the Community Thanksgiving Rally.
ANGELICUS

Campus Tours

Mr. Harry J. Schaleman, Jr., has been selected as one of the twenty-five faculty members for the World Campus Afloat Program.

Leave of Absence

Mr. Schaleman, assistant professor of geography and world history at Barry, will take a leave of absence for the fall term of 1968-69 for this program.

The S.S. Ryndam, a ship of Dutch registry, is the campus for 400 selected students from colleges throughout the nation. The ship includes 12 classrooms, a science laboratory, an oceanography laboratory, a library, theater, student union, and dormitories.

The tour will include 16 countries in Europe, the Middle East, Africa, and South America. The ports of call are Sicily, the Canary Islands, Dublin, London, Copenhagen, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Liege, Rome, Athens, Funchal, Hafila-Teal Avi, Barcelona, Frentown, Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, Punta Arenas, Valparaiso-Santiago, Callao-Lima, and Acapulco.

The S.S. Ryndam, a ship of Dutch registry, is the campus for 400 selected students from colleges throughout the nation.

National Hardware & Paint Co.

9700 N.E. 2nd Avenue
Miami Shores, Florida
The "COMPLETE" Hardware Store
SERVICE • QUALITY
Full Line of Art Supplies
Phone 758-3049

Distinctive Hair Styling

A Complete Beauty Service
Phone 3-4313
Phone 1-9300

VILLAGE OPTICIAN
In Publix Shopping Center
Prescriptions filled
★ Lenses and frames duplicated
★ Latest in young eye-wear
9068 Biscayne Blvd. 754-9953
Miami Shores, Florida

BOB'S
Now features a new Soft Serve machine
Delicious Pizzas, Burgers, Subs, Hot Dogs
WE DELIVER-
CHAR-BROILED BURGERS — STEAKS — BAR-B-Q BEEF BURGERS — BEEF — BEEF — BEEF — BEEF — BEEF — BEEF
759-5052 PHONES 757-9116
11500 N.E. 2nd Avenue

Bakery, Inc.

Miami Shores, Miami, Florida

Wedding and Birthday Cakes
Our Specialty

9714 N.E. 2nd Avenue
Phone PL 9-5315

Personality Plus

Miss Brightbill has seen other college representatives on the job and she said, "the director needs to make a very good impression for Barry upon high school guidance people and on comparable representatives from other colleges and universities." Carol has the type of personality for the job, she added.

Recruitment Officer Named, Ritchie to Represent Barry

by Karla McClellan

The Barry YR's, in coordination with other Dade college YR's will be co-sponsors of a Hospitality Room, which is part of the welcome planned for delegates of other state YR groups.

Ten states across the nation are up and coming Republican states. The national Republicans have organized this program to help elect Republican candidates running for the U.S. Senate.

In nationwide competition from thousands of college professionals, Mr. Harry J. Schaleman, Jr., has been selected as one of the twenty-five faculty members for the World Campus Afloat Program.

In an interview with Mr. Alan Miller, Carol discussed her duties as the director.

YR Nominated For Project Target

Katie Nint, past chairman of the YR, has been nominated for state representative for Project Target, a program begun by the National Republican Committee.

Ten states across the nation are up and coming Republican states. The national Republicans have organized this program to help elect Republican candidates running for the U.S. Senate.

Carol Ritchie is the Barry College candidate in the Speak Out contest, which requires a five minute speech on "Why a GOP President." Nancy Siegle is the alternate candidate.

In an interview with Mr. Alan Miller, Carol discussed her duties as the director.

Chairman of the Barry College YR's, in coordination with other Dade college YR's will be co-sponsors of a Hospitality Room, which is part of the welcome planned for delegates of other state YR groups.

In nationwide competition from thousands of college professionals, Mr. Harry J. Schaleman, Jr., has been selected as one of the twenty-five faculty members for the World Campus Afloat Program.

Leaves of Absence

Mr. Schaleman, assistant professor of geography and world history at Barry, will take a leave of absence for the fall term of 1968-69 for this program.

The Barry YR's, in coordination with other Dade college YR's will be co-sponsors of a Hospitality Room, which is part of the welcome planned for delegates of other state YR groups.

Ten states across the nation are up and coming Republican states. The national Republicans have organized this program to help elect Republican candidates running for the U.S. Senate.

In nationwide competition from thousands of college professionals, Mr. Harry J. Schaleman, Jr., has been selected as one of the twenty-five faculty members for the World Campus Afloat Program.

Leaves of Absence

Mr. Schaleman, assistant professor of geography and world history at Barry, will take a leave of absence for the fall term of 1968-69 for this program.

The Barry YR's, in coordination with other Dade college YR's will be co-sponsors of a Hospitality Room, which is part of the welcome planned for delegates of other state YR groups.
In this fourth and last installment of an analysis of the Barry College role, the faculty views the effectiveness of the education and social work departments.

The education department is the cornerstone for community service. It prepares students to teach and to be of service because "the whole world depends on how children are educated," Sister Ann Thomas, professor of education, said.

The educational psychology course is a practical asset to the community. Tutorial work is conducted on a public and private basis at Booker T. Washington junior and senior high school, the Marian Center, the Suniland Training Center, and the Holmes Elementary School.

Sister feels a need for new programs within the education department. She said, "Our girls go out as student teachers and they look for jobs and there is no need to change, to get in on the explosion of knowledge being mirrored in secondary and elementary schools."

Sister feels that the college should be more flexible in its programs. "We have a very traditional program and there is more and more specialization needed. We need to structure a program in early childhood education. There are so few programs for the deaf and blind that we ought to move into those areas and into the field of the emotionally disturbed child."

When asked if these new programs would be a duplication of services, she said, "Yes, the reorganized program is the other three services are not commonly given especially on the undergraduate level. These programs are not that common, and there is such a need for them."

The Graduate School of Social Work is currently instructing 60 students on a full-time basis. Approximately 700-800 hours a year are spent in field work at various agencies, so the ministering hand of Barry College is felt in Avon Park.

Dr. Henry McGinnis, dean of the School of Social Work, said, "We emphasize the need for new programs within the education department. We need to prepare students to be professionals to help other people better." He feels that the School of Social Work should have a definite commitment to the community.

Students are working with individuals, groups, and families of alcoholics as well as the alcoholics themselves in the Alcohol Relapses Rehabilitation Program at Avon Park.

At the Catholic Welfare Bureau, students supervise adoptions, foster child care, and parent-child difficulties.

The School of Social Work works closely with the University of Miami in the Child Development Center. Students work with children who have difficulty in child growth, and with socially and culturally deprived children.

The James E. Scott Center, formally the Negro Family Agency, provides students the opportunity of working with Negroes and their family problems.

In the future, the School of Social Work hopes to expand its focus to include involvement and participation in community needs such as research into the model cities program.

"Hopefully we will be able to provide social workers with an awareness of the immediate needs of the community, in the South, and even in Latin America," Dr. McGinnis said.

Dr. McGinnis is apprehensive "because everybody knows a little bit about helping someone." He added, "But in social work everybody always claims to be a social worker."

The important aspects of Barry College's participation in the community have been seen. It is obvious that the students at Barry College are inwardly motivated and will go to great lengths in achieving their departmental goals.

Community Service: Education, Social Work

The School of Social Work works closely with the University of Miami in the Child Development Center. Students work with children who have difficulty in child growth, and with socially and culturally deprived children.

The James E. Scott Center, formally the Negro Family Agency, provides students the opportunity of working with Negroes and their family problems.

In the future, the School of Social Work hopes to expand its focus to include involvement and participation in community needs such as research into the model cities program.

"Hopefully we will be able to provide social workers with an awareness of the immediate needs of the community, in the South, and even in Latin America," Dr. McGinnis said.

Dr. McGinnis is apprehensive "because everybody knows a little bit about helping someone." He added, "But in social work everybody always claims to be a social worker."

Miss Evelyn Mitchell, a new member of the Barry College lay advisory board said, "I think Barry College is an excellent college; it has an outstanding president who has great plans for the future, including buildings and educational programs and with time, and a little luck, it will be one of the really great private colleges in the South."
On Editors . . .

They are a noisy bunch to put up with. Public servants like to have them around when the going is good — which isn’t often especially when the going isn’t so good, editors become public nuisances.

A press boss is a person who has a mind everyone knows since what he says in editor parlance, and what he means by it, is in a unique category that makes him absolutely right to some people while at the same time he is dead wrong to others who wish all editors were just that — wrong and dead.

Editors are a strange breed. The fact that they are feared absolutely doesn’t mean that one must toil courageously to bear the kind of remarks people dare not whisper beyond their cloaks, brinds editors as a necessary evil.

But they are necessary. Editors have been wrong, they have been right. They have influenced the government and brought prejudice to our national leaders. They have been honest and dishonest, biassed and objective, trusted and distrusted. They are secretly respected but seldom loved.

Adrienne Moore held the editorial leadership position at Barry for two years and during this time this newspaper grew from an unread monthly to an anticipated bi-weekly. News grew to four times its previous coverage. It didn’t take long for the Barry campus newspaper to make its mark on student awareness and college opinion. It was read with pleasure and with purpose.

Perhaps the strongest mark felt in this paper came from this editorial page where one editor commented on the college scene and one editor brought to the student body the kind of remarks people dare not whisper beyond their cloaks.

Few Barryites would know about the 7 a.m. sessions with the printers, the late hours in the news room, the city-wide errands for photos and stories. Few Barryites would know about the extra-page special edition on Monsignor Barry last November was accomplished by one editor alone in record time of production. The extra circulated across the nation and many letters of appreciation for them were received on campus.

Few Barryites would know about the 7 a.m. sessions with the printers, the late hours in the news room, the city-wide errands for photos and stories. Few Barryites would know about the extra-page special edition on Monsignor Barry last November was accomplished by one editor alone in record time of production. The extra circulated across the nation and many letters of appreciation for them were received on campus.

By the operation of plays within the play G. K. Chesterton graphically illustrates the effect of free will on creatures in his story. Given humanity, the cast truly comes to life in the second act. They allow themselves to be as active and bright as puppets as they were as men.

After the dolls are given the freedom to lead their own lives, the puppet maker himself is surprised to find that they use it for their own self-interests.

The puppet maker played by Dan D’Alesio writes a play for his lifelike puppets in which there is no villain and no ... to give them free will. It had been his intention in his play to use the element of surprise to add happiness to life.

For the Barryites, the late hours in the news room, the city-wide errands for photos and stories. Few Barryites would know about the extra-page special edition on Monsignor Barry last November was accomplished by one editor alone in record time of production. The extra circulated across the nation and many letters of appreciation for them were received on campus.

The students do accept your comment as to the need for lead­ers, qualified and experienced and I feel the students have made the wisest decision as to their campus leaders.

Olivia Bevilacqua

Dearest Eddy,

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.

I am confident in the success of the Barry student government and the Barry student body.

I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the present.

Also, I would like to say that this is the Barry student government of the future.

Adam presentation.
Dr. Abel to Join Faculty, Plans Curriculum Changes

Dr. Herbert Abel, former professor of classics at Loyola University, Chicago for nearly forty years, will join the faculty as a member of the Latin department in September.

Dr. Abel will teach several courses including Comparative Linguistics 490-590. It is open to graduate and undergraduate students, is an addition to the English department.

Dr. Abel will also conduct a teachers course in Virgil and an epistolography course for undergraduates, which deals with the letters of Cicero, Horace, and Pliny.

Second semester Dr. Abel will conduct a seminar on Cicero for graduate students. A course in Roman satire will be available for undergraduates.

English, Speech and Drama
Dr. Abel will also teach courses in the English and speech and drama departments. Evaluation of the Popular Arts, a new course, will be open to seniors and graduate students, is an addition to the English department.

Sister remarked that Dr. Abel is anxious to introduce an element of drama into the curriculum if there are enough student interest.

According to Sister, Dr. Abel foresees teaching different literary genres such as epic poetry, lyric poetry, and drama in translation since he is aware that many interested students want to study the classics but do not have the Latin background to do so.

Dr. Abel has been president of the Illinois Classical Conference, the Chicago Classical Club. He was also managing editor of The Classical Journal.

Dr. Abel is the author of classical poems, commentaries and articles published in such magazines as The Classical Outlook, Translations of American Philological Association and the Classical Bulletin.

For his accomplish men, Dr. Abel was recently honored with an award by the Classical Association of the Midwest and South. He was also commended by the Illinois Classical Conference for his work in that organization.

Dramatic Background
Dr. Abel's dramatic background includes associations with several theater groups. He was the director of the University of Dayton Little Theater and appeared in various productions of the Loyola Community Theater, the Mundine College Players and others.

Dr. Abel's incoming freshman class will include the winner of the Barry Knight Award in foreign languages, Victoria Rivers and her twin sister, Sandy Stringer of Miami Killian High School for citizenship and Patricia Mermelstein of Hashish Senior High School for science.

The awards are offered each year by the Herald to the outstanding Dade County high school students in 14 categories. The recipients receive a silver trophy and $200.

Language Winner
Miss Victoria Rivers is of par ticular interest. She has command of five languages, her native Spanish, English, French, German and Chinese.

In third place choice with Barry students were Rockefeller with 48 votes, McCarthy with 42 votes, and Lindsay with 35.

On national issues, Barry students favored reduction of military action with 38.22 per cent of the votes, followed by all out efforts with 28.34 per cent of the votes, followed by all out efforts with 28.34 per cent of the votes.

Bombing Action
Voters favored permanent cessation of bombing and temporary suspension of bombing.

Forty per cent nationally thought education should receive the highest priority in government spending to relieve the urban crisis. Choice '68 was a public service of Sperry Rand's UNIVAC Division and TIME Magazine.
New Queen Strives For Involvement
by Ana Marie Santini

She loves dancing of any kind, enjoys reading and most of all loves meeting people, a reason why she feels she likes nursing so much—that is Mia Degliomini, a junior nursing student and the recently elected campus queen.

To these she adds dorm life. "Since we can't bring people into the homes of day students." commented Mia, "dorm life can be a representative of what the home life of both day and resident students consists."

"The community," Mia continued, "is aware of our high academic rating. We have to make them aware of our social life as well."

Mia, who stated that she considered it "a great honor to be elected as a representative of Barry," said she feels that the friendliness and dynamism which exists here should be made known to the people of the community.

A member of the Alpha Theta council, Mia has also served on several class committees. She was an Olympic Day cheerleader for three years. Next year Mia stated that with less hospital work she hopes to participate in more activities on campus.

Modeling and being the first runner-up in the Miss Thermo-Jac contest has not altered her plans for a nursing career. Mia stated that she is "seriously considering going into cardiac nursing."

Safety Director Attacks Violence, Organized Crime
by Sally Ruskin

A lack of law, order, and justice is the key problem of the community today, commented Mr. E. Wilson Purdy, Director of the Dade Public Safety Department, in a speech to the student body May 6.

Public support of the police and honesty in the political system of the community are vital, Mr. Purdy said. The combination of prosecutors, courts, corrective workers, police, and public must be free of corruption, or a good police-community relationship to exist.

Rise in Crime
The last decade has seen a rise in crime rates, violence and disrespect of law paralleling the softening of police power. Mr. Purdy advocates a stronger police enforcement of laws, and a closer partnership between police and community to work for the decline of crime.

YRs Announce New Officers
Tia Gustaff, sophomore English major, was elected chairman of the Young Republicans for the 1968-1969 academic year at a recent meeting.

Other officers of the first-year organization are: vice-chairman, Arlene Wandell; recording secretary, Ann Peterman; corresponding secretary, Joan Gunther; treasurer, Ann Marie Santini; and historian, Barbara Souza.

In recognition of her participation in the BVCYA, Joan Gunther, coordinator of the club, was made a life-time honorary member.

As future chairman, Tia Gustaff plans active participation in election campaigning and activities. She hopes for greater unity within the club.

This summer several members of the college organization plan to attend the National Republican Convention here in Miami.