THE MONSIGNOR WILLIAM BARRY MEMORIAL LIBRARY presents

The Quran and Feminism

with

Rabia Karim Khan

Resident Scholar, The Islamic Foundation of South Florida

Wednesday, April 24, 2013 • 7:00 – 9:00 pm
Monsignor William Barry Memorial Library • Room 308
Barry University
11300 NE Second Avenue, Miami Shores, FL 33161

Rabia Karim Khan will explore how the Quran addresses the moral, spiritual, and social responsibilities of women. Khan will discuss how it liberated women from unjust social norms of sixth century Arabia, providing spiritual and intellectual freedom.

Khan earned three master’s degrees in Arabic language and literature, Islamic studies, and educational leadership. She is a resident scholar at The Islamic Foundation of South Florida, where she is the department head for Islamic studies for full-time elementary and middle school students. She has chaired the women’s book club activities and continues to teach weekly adult classes at the foundation.

For more information, contact Mertene Nembhard, Reference Librarian, at 305-899-4051 or mnembhard@barry.edu.

The Bridging Cultures Bookshelf: Muslim Journeys is a project of the National Endowment for the Humanities, conducted in cooperation with the American Library Association. Support was provided by a grant from Carnegie Corporation of New York. Additional support for the arts and media components was provided by the Doris Duke Foundation for Islamic Art.